

Exchange Your Sun* Product Licenses for Novell® Licenses—Free

Are you worried about future viability and support from Oracle* for your Sun identity and access management products? Build certainty with Novell, where identity and access management is at the core of everything we do.

How Much Uncertainty Is Too Much?

When it comes to network security, you don't take a "wait and see" approach. In fact, one reason you deployed identity and access management (IAM) solutions in the first place was to eliminate the guesswork that creates compliance nightmares and leaves your resources vulnerable.

And yet, despite the promises made by some vendors, events in the IAM market might leave you with less certainty about your network security, not more. If you're troubled by recent news that Sun's product catalog, now owned by Oracle, will be substantially scaled back, you're not alone. Many of Sun's customers are highly concerned about Oracle's commitment to Sun's IAM product line, and are left struggling with many unanswered questions, such as:

- Will we get the same level of support from Oracle that we used to get from Sun?
- What level of SAP technology integration will Oracle support?*

- Given Oracle's track record, how much will maintenance fees increase?
- What products will we need to purchase in the future to build on our Sun product investment?
- How comfortable are we being an all-Oracle shop?
- Does this acquisition move us toward or away from an integrated identity and security platform?

Novell delivers certainty in an uncertain world through its unyielding commitment to identity and access management. Novell enables you to intelligently manage user access rights throughout their lifecycles—from the day users are hired to the day they leave the company. With the right combination of automated policies, provisioning, roles management and access control across physical, virtual and cloud environments, you can optimize business efficiency, enhance agility and ensure compliance in an intelligent and secure manner.
